CITY COUNCIL

JAMES E. TATE, Jr.
CITY COUNCIL PRESIDENT

Dear Members of the United African Community Organization:

On behalf of the Detroit City Council, it is my pleasure to extend warm greetings and congratulations to the United African Community Organization (UACO) as you celebrate the 23rd Annual African Diaspora Cultural Festival.

As Detroit City Council President and the representative of District 1, I take particular pride in recognizing an organization headquartered in the district I have the privilege to represent and one that continues to make such a meaningful contribution to our city. Celebrating a twenty-third annual event is a remarkable achievement. It reflects years of dedicated leadership, committed volunteers, and a community that understands the importance of preserving its culture and traditions while sharing them with others.

For more than two decades, UACO has brought people together through cultural celebration, education, and community engagement. Your work has strengthened connections throughout the African diaspora while enriching the cultural fabric of Detroit. The African Diaspora Cultural Festival is a wonderful reminder that our city's diversity is one of its greatest strengths.

Thank you for your continued leadership and service. I wish you every success as you celebrate this year's festival and look forward to seeing your positive impact continue for many years to come.

In solidarity,

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "James Tate".

James Tate, Jr. Detroit City Council President

City of Detroit – City Council District 1

PRESIDENT ADDRESS

Dear Community Members, Families, and Friends,
Welcome to the 23rd Annual July 4th African & Caribbean Festival!

As we gather to celebrate our rich heritage, I am profoundly honored to continue addressing you as the first female president of the United African Community Organization (UACO). This milestone is not just a personal honor; it is a testament to the growth, inclusivity, and forward momentum of our organization.

I want to take this special opportunity to express my deepest gratitude to our Founders-- Dr Ola Salewa, Dr kemoli Sagala, MS Agnes Branford, Mr. Poku, Mrs. Sancho (deceased), Ms. Beatrice (deceased), Prof. Ayo Akinlua, Mr. & Mrs. Amid Alghali, (Dr& Mr.) Ajiri (deceased), Mr. Sikawa, Mr. Samba, Mr. Paul Aleboua, Dr. Alex, Mrs. Komeh Strauss, Mr. Ayub, Rev Boyoue, Mr. Swako, Queen mother Osundara Asiki (deceased), & Mr. Bade, Our Community Leaders, Volunteers, Partners, Contributors – of what they mean to UACO. Their vision and dedication laid the groundwork for the beautiful, a thriving vibrant and unifying platform that allows us to celebrate who we are and honor our roots here in America today.

In a world that often feels divided—and in times where African immigrants are unfairly called out in a negative light—our festival serves as a bold, vibrant reminder of exactly who we are and where we come from. My mission as President is to continue bringing our youths, young adults, and our entire African, Caribbean, and Haitian communities together.

It is crucial that we foster a strong sense of belonging and cultural pride among our young people. They are a generation filled with boundless potential. By uniting our voices, supporting one another, and harnessing our collective energy, we are actively shaping a brighter, more resilient future for all.

I invite and encourage every African, our extended National & Provisional Organizations, our Caribbean & Haitian families, and our American brothers and sisters to become a Paid Member of UACO United African Community Organization. Your membership ensures your voice is heard and your vote counts to make a difference United African Community Organization. Let us work together to build a strong network of young leaders one that values mentorship, tackles challenges, and celebrates successes United African Community Organization.

Let us unite, empower one another, and carry forward the great work that has been done before us!

Keep the peace and enjoy the day with our display of cultural outfits, dancing, singing, and, most of all, the tasting of authentic African cuisine and the beautiful diversity of our diaspora!

With Unity and Strength,

Bridget Hamed-M'bayo

President, United African Community Organization (UACO)

CHAIRMAN, UACO BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Dear Friends, Families, and Fellow Celebrants,

On behalf of the United African Community Organization and our national community organizations, it is my distinct honor and joy to welcome you to the 23rd Annual 4th of July African Cultural Festival. For more than two decades, this gathering has stood as a powerful testament to the spirit of unity, resilience, and cultural pride that defines our community here in Metropolitan Detroit.

This year marks an exciting new chapter in our festival's history. After two remarkable decades at Eliza Howell Park, the growth of our event, a true reflection of the growth of our community has led us to a wonderful new home: Jefferson Field. With ample space to accommodate our thousands of participants, convenient road access, and beautifully landscaped grounds, Jefferson Field is a fitting stage for the vibrant celebration we have built together.

I wish to extend my deepest and most heartfelt appreciation to the members of the Organizing Committee. Your countless hours of dedication, creative vision, and tireless effort have made this festival the beloved institution it is today. Behind every soccer match, every musical performance, every dance troupe, and every aromatic plate of African cuisine is a team of devoted volunteers whose sacrifice and passion make the magic possible. This festival belongs to each one of you.

As we celebrate, let us pause to recognize the irreplaceable role of our youth. The young men and women who grace our soccer fields, our stages, and our dance circles are not merely participants, they are the living future of African culture in America. Their energy, creativity, and growing pride in their heritage give us every reason to look forward with confidence. We must continue to invest in them, mentor them, and create spaces where they can discover the richness of who they are. The flame of our traditions burns brightest when it is passed on to the next generation.

As we rejoice today, we must also remain clear-eyed about the larger work before us. Across the world, African people and people of African descent continue to face profound economic and political marginalization. Our strongest response is unity, deliberate, urgent, and uncompromising. When we pool our resources, align our voices, and act in concert across national borders and oceans, we become a force that no barrier can contain. I urge every member of our community to see beyond the festival and commit to the broader mission of African solidarity, self-determination, and collective advancement. The time for that unity is not tomorrow, it is now.

To every participant who has traveled near and far to be with us today, thank you. Your presence transforms a gathering into a celebration and a celebration into a movement. May this 4th of July fill your hearts with pride, your spirits with joy, and your bellies with the finest African delicacies Detroit has to offer. Wishing you and your families a truly happy and memorable festival!

With deep pride and warm regards,

Moses Lukwago

PROGRAM DIRECTOR ADDRESS

My fellow Africans, Caribbeans, Americans and Friends, I welcome you all to the 23rd Annual UACO African family Unity Festival in Honor of the United States of America Independence Day Celebration. I also want to take this opportunity to salute those unable to be here today with us and also extend condolences to the families of those who passed away.

UACO is an organization formed to acquaint all of us, to the culture and tradition of various African Countries. Through this celebration we will experience different types of food, dancing style and dressing, therefore as the Program Director of UACO I will make sure that all these are fulfilled today and beyond. I will also make sure that the interior motives of UACO formation will continue to burn until UACO becomes an Organization Worldwide known with their services.

As many of you know UACO is not only known for the annual African Family Unity Festival, but also known for many different Projects and Humanitarian Services.

As a Program Director of UACO I salute those who have worked hard on behalf of UACO and also those who continue to make sure that this celebration continues every year without any impediments, therefore relax and Enjoy the African Family Unity Picnic.

Finally I will like to thank all the Members of UACO, Participating Countries, Provincial Organizations Vendors, Sponsors, Friends and Families for making this year's celebration a memorable one.
God bless all of us and bless USA.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR / FOUNDER ADDRESS

There comes a time in the affairs of men and women when it becomes necessary to lay a strong foundation for the future.

It seems like only yesterday that a group of Africans came together following my tenure at the United Nations to establish the United African Community Organization (UACO). The organization was founded with objectives that include, but are not limited to, the following:

- * To foster stronger relationships between Africans on the continent and Africans in the Diaspora.
- * To promote African culture, arts, music, and dance.
- * To improve bilateral trade and economic cooperation.
- * To facilitate the transfer of technology and knowledge from the Diaspora to Africa.
- * To serve as a point of reference for tourism and encourage people to discover the beauty and richness of Africa.
- * To provide a platform for discussing issues related to human development and progress.
- * To encourage trade and highlight Africa's contributions to humanity.

While we have made considerable progress, there is still much more to achieve.

Personally, I would like to thank our Board of Directors and Executive Officers for their dedication and hard work. Through the establishment of a strong constitutional framework, our organization successfully elected the first female President among our 25-member nations, a milestone of which we are very proud.

As we celebrate the Independence of the United States of America, we must also remember those we left behind and recognize the need to help develop the infrastructure and economies of African nations toward greater self-sufficiency.

This includes investments in agriculture, business, technology, education, and medicine.

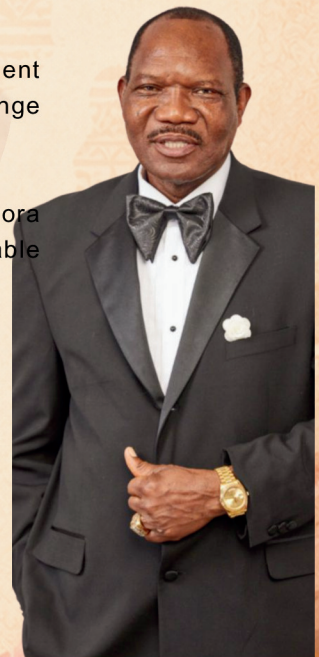

It is not enough simply to send money home. Our greater goal should be to help Africa become self-sustaining and capable of providing opportunities for its people while contributing as an equal partner in the global economy.

Africa is blessed with abundant natural resources that are essential to global development and human progress. Let us use this gathering as an opportunity to network, exchange ideas, and mobilize our collective talents and resources.

The African Union and African nations need the participation of Africans in the Diaspora in conversations involving technology, innovation, economic growth, and sustainable development.

Areas of urgent need include:

- * Food security and agricultural development.
- * The fight against terrorism, insecurity, and war.
- * Improved healthcare, education, and life expectancy.
- * Addressing substance abuse among our youth.
- * Job creation and economic empowerment.
- * Technology and innovation.

While we appreciate the increasing investment flowing into Africa, we also encourage Africans in the Diaspora to contribute their knowledge, expertise, and resources to create jobs and opportunities that will enable young people to remain in Africa and develop its vast resources.

Improving life expectancy and quality of life through education, healthcare, and technology must remain one of our highest priorities.

In closing, as we celebrate this 23rd Annual African Diaspora Cultural Festival, I would like to express our deepest appreciation for the efforts, support, and collaboration of Africans throughout the Diaspora.

I wish you and your families continued health, happiness, prosperity, and God's abundant blessings in your homes and careers.

Please take good care of yourselves. Get adequate rest, maintain a balanced diet, save for retirement, stay close to God, participate in community development, remain connected to your roots, provide quality education for your children, invest in technology, and serve as ambassadors of goodwill.

May God bless you all.

It is my privilege and honor to officially declare the 23rd Annual African Diaspora Cultural Festival open.

Thank you.
